FOUNDATION STUDENT EMPLOYEES ENCOURAGED TO APPLY FOR NORMAN J. PRIEST ENDOWED SCHOLARSHIP

Foundation student employees are encouraged to apply for the Norman J. Priest Scholarship. This scholarship was created 10 years ago to honor former Cal Poly Pomona Foundation Board Member Norm Priest, and reward at least 2 deserving full time students who embody the values and work ethic of Mr. Priest in their participation and leadership in campus activities and community service, and in their work activities as employees of the Foundation.

Submitted applications are reviewed by Mrs. Halo Priest, her son James Priest, and a Foundation Scholarship Committee. Selection is based on one's resume, a recommendation from both a supervisor and a Foundation staff member, plus an essay on how the Cal Poly Pomona Foundation has helped them with their educational goals and how the award will help them achieve their career/educational goals. The essay should also highlight how participation and leadership in campus activities and community service will help them achieve their goals. Applications can be found online at: <https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/NY83SJS>

AMERICAN RED CROSS INVITES FOUNDATION TO PARTICIPATE IN BENEFITS FAIR

As tenants of Innovation Village at Cal Poly Pomona, American Red Cross employees can enjoy many of the benefits offered to campus faculty and staff through our Affiliate Card program.

On Sept 27, 2011, American Red Cross held their annual benefits fair and invited Foundation to participate as our Affiliate Program is a valuable benefit to their employees.

This gave us an opportunity to showcase Foundation's services and promotions that their employees can take advantage of.

FOUNDATION WELCOMES SCE TO 3 INNOVATION WAY

Foundation has welcomed the newest tenants at Innovation Way with a welcome table set up in the lobby of 3 Innovation Way.

Representatives from Kellogg West, Real Estate, Foundation Marketing, Bookstore, Real Estate and Farm Store have been on hand to welcome employees to the Cal Poly Pomona family, answer questions, and showcase the services that Foundation has to offer our new tenants.

As the cost of technology has become more affordable, it has allowed us to purchase a large flat screen television, which we loaded with a photo slideshow on a continuous loop. SCE employees can view the slideshow at their convenience and the display allows them access to campus maps, brochures and flyers showcasing our services, as well as shuttle route information and the new Bronco Shuttle stop at 1 Innovation Way.

FRUGAL CORNER

FABULOUS FREEBIES 2011

Welcome to the land of the freebies, the home of the savers. Here are some top-notch goods and services don't cost a thing. Here at Kiplinger, we believe you can have the best of both worlds: that you can live frugally and live well. To prove that point, we're back with our fifth annual list of fabulous freebies. We found 31 categories of quality goods and services -- from free financial services to free entertainment, no useless junk allowed! -- that you would happily pay good money for, except you don't have to. Editors Note: Last month we shared the first 10 ideas; here are 10 more great ideas ... read the next issue of Foundation News for even more great fabulous freebies!

11. FREE FISHING

Grab your pole and hang a "Gone Fishin' " sign on the door. Most states have free fishing days when you can fish without a license, saving you about $7 to $30, depending on your location. Most of the free days are in the summer, but some states have spring and fall days too. You'll find a list of states and dates at www.TakeMeFishing.org, or check with your local fish and wildlife agency for details.

Many locales also let kids fish for free year-round. The age cutoff varies by state but is usually in the teens.

12. FREE E-CYCLING

To keep your old electronics out of the landfill, you could pay $10 to $25 per item to have them recycled. But a growing number of retailers and electronics manufacturers will take them off your hands for free, including Best Buy and Apple. Dell has also partnered with many Goodwill stores to accept electronics for recycling.

Go to www.Earth911.com to search for e-cycle programs in your area, then zero in on the free ones. Or check out the EPA's list of recycling and donation programs.

13. FREE CHECKING

This is a freebie that is getting harder to find in the face of new banking regulations. Many banks are raising fees on basic services or setting up more hoops for you to jump through in order to qualify for freebies.

However, you can still find several good free checking accounts online, such as those offered at EverBank, ING Direct and Ally Bank. They give you free ATM access and free online bill-paying, plus you earn interest (free money!) on your deposits as well.

14. FREE MOVIES & TV

Movie tickets, cable TV, Netflix... these can all add up. Yet there are several free options to get your entertainment fix. You can watch free movies and TV series online at www.Hulu.com and www.Crackle.com (check out the Crackle.com app for entertainment on the go), or head to the TV networks' Web sites. You can also get free Redbox DVD rentals with coupon codes from www.InsideRedbox.com.

Many communities, from San Diego to Pittsburgh, show free outdoor movies in the summer. Plus, you and your kids can catch free family films throughout the summer at several theaters, including Clearview, Marquee, Muvico and select Great Escape locations.

15. FREE LEGAL ADVICE

Nolo.com has been Kiplinger's go-to source for legal information for a long time, and it's still the best. The Web site is packed with free advice on a wide range of legal issues, such as estate planning, buying or selling real estate, managing a business and more. Nolo is authoritative, yet clearly explains when your situation calls for hiring a lawyer.

16. FREE REWARDS

You've got to buy gas and groceries anyway, so why not charge them on your rewards credit card to get free money, airline miles or more? And if you make a purchase online, start at www.BondRewards.com to earn another cool freebie: You click on an affiliated online retailer (there are hundreds) to do your shopping as usual, and a percentage of your purchase is given back to you in your BondRewards account. You then redeem your rewards for U.S. savings bonds or cash.

17. FREE RX DRUGS

Bring in your prescription, and you can get free antibiotics at some pharmacies, including those at Giant Eagle, Meijer, Publix, Schnucks and Wegmans.

You can also get free prenatal vitamins at Meijer and Schnucks. Price Chopper and ShopRite stores give out free diabetes medications and supplies.

18. FREE E-BOOKS

If you own a Kindle, iPad or other electronic reader, you can populate your e-library without breaking the bank. E-books commonly sell for $9.99 -- less than hardcovers but about as much as paperbacks. But at www.Gutenberg.org or the University of Pennsylvania online books page, you won't pay a cent to legally download thousands of books whose copyrights have expired, including War and Peace, Moby Dick and Little Women.

You can also search for free e-books at www.Amazon.com, www.Barnesandnoble.com, www.iTunes.com and www.Kobo.com. Or check your public library, where you can get newer titles for free too.

19. FREE AUDIOBOOKS

If you love to read but don't have the time, download free audiobooks legally from www.Librophile.com and www.BooksShouldBeFree.com. You can listen on your computer or MP3 player while you sit in traffic, fold laundry, exercise or simply relax.

The sites offer up classic books whose copyrights have expired, including works from Jane Austen, Edgar Allen Poe, H.G. Wells, Ayn Rand and more. And for bedtime-story help, they also have children's collections, which include such titles as The Three Little Pigs and The Secret Garden. To get newer titles for free, check your public library.

20. FREE CHARITABLE GIVING

Anyone can write a check, but the gift of your time is priceless. Go to Volunteermatch.org and AllforGood.org to search for needs in your area, or call a local charity and offer your services.

There are other ways you can give to a good cause without dipping into your budget. For instance, you can give blood, donate frequent flier miles, or even host an old-fashioned garage sale and give the proceeds to charity. You can also click your support: At www.hungersite.com, advertisers donate money to a cause each time you click a button on the Web page.
